SYNOPSIS OF THE ARMENIAN SERMON

Mothers are very special people. But they are people, and to be a mother is not necessarily to be virtuous. There are some mean and wicked mothers, like Herodias, who was responsible for the murder of John, the Baptist. Or Agrippina, the mother of Nero, who poisoned two of her husbands and imparted that vicious nature to her sons.

On the other hand, there are virtuous women like Mary, mother of Jesus, who was the embodiment of everything that is high and holy. They are the greatest teachers in the first and foremost school of life: the home. The virtuous mothers hold the fate of humanity in their hands, to the extent that what they build, no force can destroy, and what they destroy; no power is able to build.
